

As a college student, it can be difficult to keep track of all of your friends' schedules and know when they are in or out of class.